15 minutes	Discussion con't: Web archiving collection development policies and approaches	All	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• engaging with selectors<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>at UCD: formally reached out to selectors re getting faculty web content archived, using their expertise, low response rate, but interest is there, related to ORCID pilot (analyzing a particular school's faculty, scraping from sidebar for coll dev that faculty have created or participated in) also then reaching out and engaging with faculty (don't need institutional affiliation for ORCID to access public API); centralized approach, nerve-wracking watching data budget decline - growth analysis</li><li>at UCSF: not a lot of selectors, but with arch colls coming in, look for related web content, working with central institutional web development staff (maintains a central list) to capture, esp what's changing - role of outreach is key to getting more comprehensive, identifying pockets of content that you'd not otherwise know about...also need to take an appraisal approach to content from the central list</li><li>CA.gov:<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>at UCSD: outreach - talking with selectors, some reach out to faculty; for UCSD sites, its the UA who does this outreach</li><li>at UCLA: mostly selectors setting up crawls with faculty members, policy in development not yet approved; determination of what gets crawled is not looking at subjects, rather frequency and approach. ongoing maintenance, validating ongoing needs; have a form for addressing event-driven to figure out approach (recently implemented, not much input yet on uptake)</li></ul></li></ul></li><li>• event-driven collecting (not discussed)</li><li>• collaborative collecting (not discussed)</li></ul>
15 minutes	Cobweb walkthrough ( www.cobwebarchive.org )	Kathryn	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Kathryn shared a brief walkthrough of Cobweb, highlighting platform functionality and considering use cases for collaborative collection development. Look out for a Cobweb webinar in the new year, and reach out to Kathryn with questions, ideas, and/or to get set up.</li></ul>
