

UC Libraries Common Knowledge Groups

Common Knowledge Groups (CKGs) are standing groups of experts or pioneers in areas of interest to the University of California Libraries (UCL). The intention of CKGs is to foster innovation and continuous improvement by providing a venue for staff across campuses and from various levels to exchange ideas and collaborate on systemwide initiatives. Although CKGs may communicate with groups in the UCL Advisory Structure, they are not intended to make systemwide policy decisions, manage projects or project teams, or oversee ongoing services. CKGs are proposed by UC Libraries' staff who identify an issue, topic, subject, or content format that would benefit from the creation of a cross-campus community. The Direction and Oversight Committee (DOC) provides broad oversight for the CKGs and their registration process.
