Health Professions Education Journal Club

Goal: Stimulate conversation about educational topics that are addressed both within and outside of the health professions

Objective:

1. To compare how topics are presented in literature both inside and outside of the health professions
2. To foster a community to discuss current topics

To that end the logistics are:

1. One presenter each month who is introduced by a moderator and we start the session at 12:15pm.
2. Two articles are considered with the goal to be one from the health professions education literature (an annotated bibliography of journals can be found here) and one outside of that literature generally coming from education, psychology, organizational management and sociology.
3. The presenter chooses the format which ranges from a review of the articles to questions to be debated. We suggest presenting for 15-20 minutes and leaving the remainder of the session for discussion.
4. We try to sign up presenters for the year.
